

Dear Member

Several events over the last few weeks have enjoyed much success including the Stephen Duffy jazz recital last month and the Flowers from Art with Enid Reid event, which proved to be informative as well as very entertaining.

Ailsa McWilliam's "Looking for Wompoo Doves" exhibition opening was well attended and a great success with 18 pictures sold so far. On the subject of exhibition sales, a reminder that any member wishing to buy a painting will receive a 10% discount. The opening was followed by another acoustic afternoon with three fabulous sets from Erin K Hill, Clair Tierney and our own Dan Luck with his guitar partner Phil Toner. Ailsa's exhibition will run until Monday 30th June which will be followed by the Glasgow Art Club Summer Exhibition which opens on Friday 4th July, with a buffet dinner being served.

The Fejes String Quartet had a most appreciative audience, many of whom also enjoyed a relaxed supper from the new evening menu which was provided on the night. We would like to remind members of the extended opening hours on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and encourage you to take advantage of this added facility so do bear the club in mind if you are heading out to the theatre/cinema etc. A number of members have been enjoying the new relaxed, evening dining experience so please keep using it!

SAVE THE DATE

A Curry and Conversation Night from 6.30pm 'till late

A relaxed and informal evening with a Thai curry theme evening menu available with plenty of choice to suit everyone's taste! A summer social evening for all. An ideal opportunity to bring friends and meet up with new and not so new artist and non artist members. Enjoy the ambience, the food, the company and the music - music as background or even for dance!

Fixed price £10 for supper, this may be ordered whenever you wish and names in book, please.

Friday 14th November

Habeas Corpus Night – 7.30pm £20

Though it seems very far away, in November there will be a performance of Alan Bennett's comedy which will start at 7.30pm with a light supper which will be served during the interval. Please note that this is a fundraising event being organised by GAC member Iain McGlashan.
